SENIOR PROPHECY

Medina, Ohio
June 20, 1952

Dear Edward,

I returned from my trip to California last week. My practice as dentist has kept me so busy that I welcomed a vacation. It was certainly a pleasant surprise to meet so many of our former class mates out there.

In Los Angeles I met Frank Bond who has attained the exalted rank of Admiral in our Navy. In Yosemite National Park I found that renowned artist, Al King, reproducing the splendor of nature on canvas. Inquiring about a particularly fine farm in the West, I was informed that it belongs to Robert Hunter, who has crossed corn and sugar cane so that the ears may be picked and sugar made from the stalks!

I suppose you have heard that Jim Gibbs is a frequent passenger in the Gen-semer Airways' newly developed transports? Jim flies across country to visit Barbara Garnett. Kermit Seely is a pilot and Betty Aylard is a hostess for the Gensemer Lines. Jim's brother, Dr. Joseph Gibbs, always uses the medicines developed by that celebrated chemist, Edward Denman. Maxine Norman is a nurse, the only one who understands the proper care of patients treated with Denman's medicines.

While in California, I met Jack Ryan and Joan Gunkleman in a night club owned by Floyd Ganyard. That night its floor show featured an all-star cast which included the singing sensation, June Miller; the fiery dancer, Eleanor Kazian; and the so-called giggle-girl, Joan Hammerschmidt, amusing comedienne.

In Boston recently I went to the theater to see the new version of Hamlet, revised by Eleanor Cook, Dorothy Shermer, and Mary Kraus. Imagine my surprise to find that the stars were Corwin Letterly, Lawrence Kulp and Jeanne Etter!

Did you know that Lois Finkleman has been elected president of the Women's Athletic Association?

Stopping at Horvath's Super-Fountain, which is now the largest of its type in the country, I ran into Patty Anderson, who has been delivering a series of political lectures throughout the country. She told me that several of our classmates are on the staffs of large schools. Lee Davis is a football coach and Beatrice Baker, a typing instructor. If you remember Jim Schoenberger, you probably can guess that he is a dramatic coach who specializes in the gruesome and the Gothic. Working with Jim, though along more conventional lines, is Lois Warren. Calvin Ganyard is now a costume designer for Billy Rose's swimmerettes.

Gilbert Myers struck oil on the farm of Bob Gerspacher. It is producing such a large amount that Frank Steidl set up a refinery and is furnishing the gasoline and petroleum products for Rickert and Wilder's chain of service stations. Betty Wagner and Helen Keiper, assisted by Betty Derrick and Frances Huffman, are operating a restaurant in Los Angeles. Merle Plants is the president of a rapidly growing insurance company of which Evelyn Plants is sales manager. The company has a huge staff of secretaries, including Faye Bachtell, Margaret Bohaty, Dolores Siman, and Girdline Martin.

So far fate has dealt kindly with all of us. I hope it is a long time before any of us fall into the hands of Jim Long. He's a mortician, you know.

As ever,

John Clark.

New York City, N. Y.

July 1, 1952.

Dear John,

I received your letter telling about your trip to California. I was very glad to hear about so many of our former classmates. You will interested to know what some of the rest of them are doing.

Many former students of M. H. S. have come to New York to seek fame and fortune. You remember Loren Kaden, don't you? Loren now owns a chain of motion picture theaters which exhibit only the best shows. I went to one the other night to see a new picture, starring that sensational team of lovers, Mary Felton and Hugh Riegger.

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT of the CLASS OF 1942

We, the class of 1942, being of fairly sound mind and body, do solemnly swear that this is our last will and testament and do declare any preceding wills and testaments invalid and worthless.

Pat Anderson bequeaths her ability to be wholly misunderstood by all the teachers for four long years to anyone who has the patience to endure it.

June Bradway wills her surplus avoirdupois to Bobby Seeley.

Edward Buckley wills to any deserving male under-classman his ability to get along well with any girl and still be involved in no entangling alliances.

Betty Denton deeds her seat in 221 to whoever likes to rock. It's the third seat in the second row.

Virginia DeWitt wills her blond hair to Margaret Gorfido, if she won't mind being called "Blondie."

Alma Eberly wills to any capable person the ability to be editor of the school paper and still get straight A's.

Bettyann Fisher wills her quiet ways to Thomas White.

Calvin Ganyard and Robert Friedt will their trip to York every Thursday noon to Roland Martin, provided he uses it to the best of his ability.

Joan Gunkleman wills her ability to dent fenders to Dean Heintzleman.

Mary Jane Bennett wills her liking for massive jewelry to "Dot" Selzer.

Loren Kaden deeds to any easily contented boy or girl of the class of 1943 the third seat from Mr. Hurd's desk.

Jane Keefe wills the vanishing traces of a southern accent to Eleanor Garnett.

Evelyn Plants and Dot Krieger bestow their ability to chatter incessantly and the consequent study-hall separations to Virginia Wheeler and Olive Shaw.

Rosaile Wilt bequeaths her auburn hair to any under-classman who wants to be called "Red".

Alice Mae Armitage gladly hands over her red hair to Jim Spencer to help fill out that army clip.

Isabelle Hartell wills all bookkeeping answer books in the country to Mr. Claggett so that he will have plenty of extra ones to lose.

Al King wills his ability to "cut up" in all eight periods to Carmelita Beshire.

Viola Gunkleman gives her "maleing" list to anybody who can keep the correspondence going for a year or two.

Elizabeth Bailey wills her ability to be on decorating committees to anyone who wants to miss classes.

Mary Felton wills her extra stamina to any freshman who wants to have dates until one-thirty in the morning and still get to school on time.

Joan Hammerschmidt bequeaths her streamlined figure to Donnie Todd.

Jim and Joe Gibbs will their ability to keep brotherly fights in control until they get home to Dick and Chuck Higdon.

Vivian Hand wills the first letter of her first name to anyone wishing to use it for good luck.

Lois Finkleman leaves her presidency of the G. A. A. to one of those athletically inclined freshmen.

Margaret Bohaty wills her seat on the school bus to any poor unfortunate who is starting the long four-year grind.

Bob Shelton leaves his gift of gab to Angie Gorfido, provided he uses it to the best of his ability.

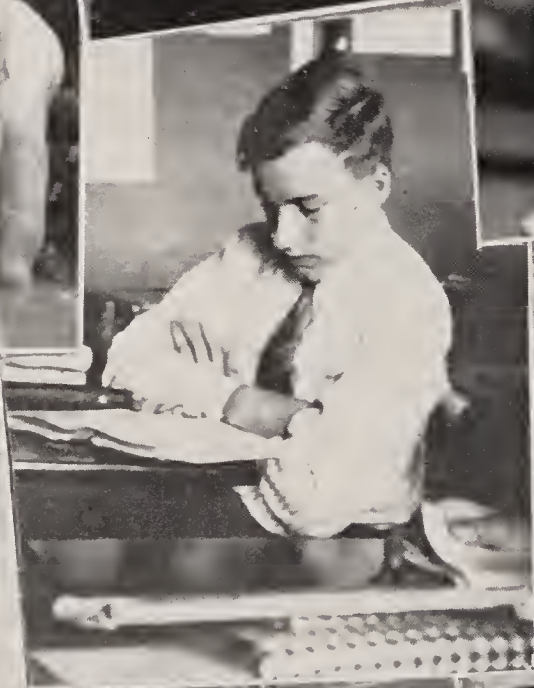

Frank Bond wills his dimples to any boy who has trouble getting dates.

Patsy Flannery wills her ability to talk all through a class discussion and still remain in the room to whoever wants to take the chance.

Barbara Garnett wills her ability to "hold her man" for four years to Jane Lovejoy.

Robert Hunter wills the perpetual wave in his hair to O. C. Duke.

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT

Helen Keiper wills her sewing ability to Faith Flynn.

Mary Kraus wills her pitching arm to Olive Rumph on the condition that she stick to the game.

Mary Lou Lance gives her job of facing assembly to any courageous person who won't get stage-fright.

Virginia Madison wills her hall escapades to Doris, knowing that she will use them wisely.

Hugh Riegger wills his ability to surprise everyone, including himself, to anyone who would like to experience that wonderful feeling.

Geraldine Martin bestows her tumbling technique upon Clara Belle Bucey.

Myrlin Hoertz wills her loose jaw to Mr. Insprucker in order that he may chew—gum.

Faye Bachtell would like to have had some red hair to will to Wesley Kemp but—

Mary Midgley is giving her braces to Helen so that she, too, can shoot rubber bands in study halls.

Eleanor Kaszian wills her jitterbugging ability to the one and only "Chicken."

FOOTBALL NEWS

WOOSTER GAME: The captain and the guard were unable to play because of injuries received during practice. Injured in the Wooster game were Letterly, Sebek, and Hodnett. The highlight of the game was Medina's touchdown.

NORTH ROYALTON: The outstanding feature of this game was the fact that no one was injured. One of the thrills of the game was the pass from Kulp to Letterly for a touchdown. The second team played most of the game.

BRECKSVILLE: First game in which the captain played. The Brecksville team proved to be very keen competition, but Medina won.

VERMILION: This was the first league game and the team brought home a victory.

NEW LONDON GAME: The boys were feeling good because they had won their first league game. They got off to a rather bad start but came through with another victory.

WELLINGTON: The boys were feeling confident after winning the first two games, but a clever pass over the left side won the game for Wellington.

AMHERST GAME: The boys practiced hard, hoping that they could make a come-back and win this game, but a pass over the left side of the line won the game for Amherst.

CLEARVIEW GAME: Our team met an unbeaten Clearview team with high spirits. Medina played hard throughout the first half, getting the ball down to Clearview's 19 yard line. At that point the boys slowed down and Clearview got the ball. The score at the half was Clearview 6, Medina 0. Clearview beat us with a score of 19-0, becoming league champions for 1941-1942.

Last week I called up the secretarial school run by Nora June Bradway, Virginia DeWitt and Rosalie Wilt. I needed a private secretary. Whom should they send over but Elizabeth Bailey! She was their star pupil.

As I walked down Fifth Avenue yesterday, I had a chance to see many old classmates. On one side of the street is the exclusive dress shop run by Flora Maitland, Helen Mathewson and Betty McDonald. Their best dresses are modeled by Virginia Madison and Helen Navratil. On the other side of the street is the office of Jane Keefe who edits a famous women's magazine. Her assistant is Alma Eberly.

Last month I took a trip through New England. I stopped off in Boston to hear that famous lecturer, Miss Mary Lou Lance, who spoke on personality.

Back in New York again, I noticed an advertisement for Bob Shelton's new dancing school. Dorothy Kreiger is chief instructor and Bette Dale Weber is in charge of square dancing.

Speaking of schools, I see that Betty Denton has become a professor of English at Vassar College, and Willis Brenstuhl is a professor of aero-dynamics at M. I. T.

Mary Midgely has been made head librarian of the New York Public Library.

Do you ever listen on the radio to Don Spencer, that famous comedian? His program is sponsored by the Sebek and Freidt Chicken Feed Company. You re-

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT

Helen Mathewson wills her long legs to any unsought-after girl who wants them for "Sadie Hawkins" day.

Wade Gensemer wills to Robert Westland, or any other pupil of Medina High School, his eternal search for the perfect blonde, provided the legatee has the stamina and endurance for such an undertaking.

Lawrence Kulp wills his jitterbugging ability to Jim Johnson.

Gus Letterly wills his ability to "clinch" on the railroad tracks to little "How" Hunter.

June Miller wills her French accent to one of Miss Ryan's future students.

Beatrice Baker wills her job of typing the unexcused absence list to anyone who doesn't feel sorry for the poor "skippers".

Lee Davis wills his "taste" for eighth graders to Chuck Griesinger.

Floyd Ganyard wants Craig Fenn to have his knack of always being late in case he should decide to "sleep in" some morning.

Jack Ryan wills his ability to get "kicked" out of classes to any Freshman who needs the extra exercise.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The presidents of each class, F. F. A., G. A. A., Senior and Junior Girl Reserves, Senior and Junior Hi-Y, formed Medina's Student Council.

The council meets regularly once a month and has special meetings when they are needed.

The purposes of the council are to promote student activities, to act as a governing body, and to serve as liaison between students and faculty.

The council's regular activities have included:

1. Taking charge of assembly programs.
2. Providing busses for students who want transportation to out-of-town football and basketball games.
3. Designating the junior class to take charge of the concession booth at the stadium.
4. Starting the Camera Club.
5. Taking charge of the P. T. A.'s paper sale at the high school building.
6. Selling green and white 'Medina Bees' skull caps.
7. Sponsoring an All-Hi Carnival on March 6.
8. Selling defense stamps and bonds every Monday at the high school building and at the Garfield Building with Mr. Bart taking charge.
9. Organizing a defense stamp dance February 13, and sponsoring an All-School Dance on May 8.

SENIOR PROPHECY

member Jim and Bob, don't you? Recently the world renowned flutist, Carol Stevens, was guest soloist on Don's program.

By the way, if you need a good office nurse, why don't you look up Betty Gill? She is a graduate of Cornell Medical Center of New York City.

I notice that Viola Gunkleman and Mary Jane Neff are collaborating on a new text book on bookkeeping. Patsy Flannery and Isabel Hartell are running an exclusive beauty salon. Among their operators are Vivian Hand, Merlyn Hoertz and Betty Ann Fisher. Mary Jane Bennett has just opened a new art studio where she has famous old masters for sale.

It's a great class, isn't it? You run into them everywhere.

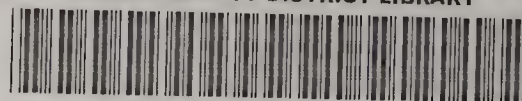

Sincerely,

Edward Buckley.
